Short-Term Forecast Discussion

- Today is expected to be a dry day across the area.
- ➤ Winds will start out of the Northeast at 5-10 MPH sustained, giving way to light, variable winds early to mid-afternoon and into the evening hours. Expecting a wind shift to more SE around ~4 PM this afternoon
 - Highs temps across the area will climb back into the low to mid 60s across the area.
- No fog is currently anticipated for today.

Sustained Winds (6 PM CT)

High Temperatures Today

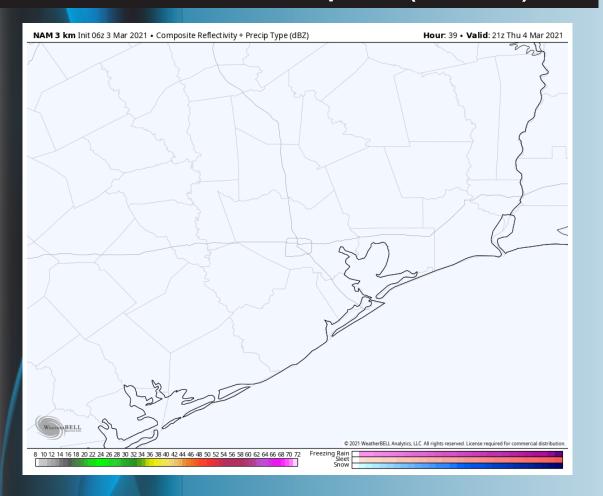

Short-Term Forecast Discussion

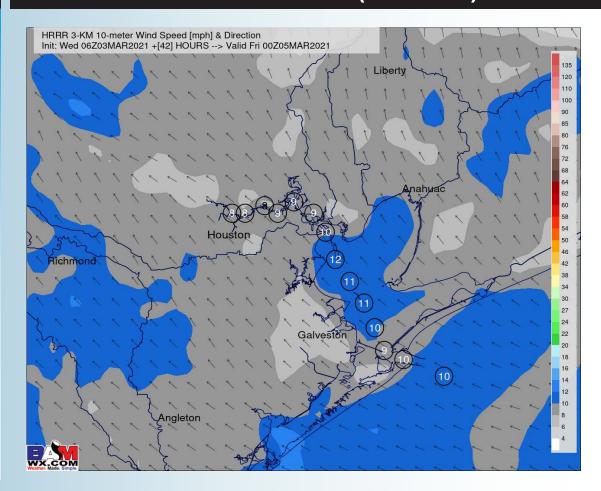

- Thursday is expected to be a dry day across the area.
- Winds early Thursday morning will be rather calm and while variable, generally coming from the NE. Expecting winds during the afternoon hours to be coming out of the SE at 8-13 MPH, a few localized gusts higher possible at the boarding station into the afternoon.
- Highs temps look to climb into the upper 60s for the area.
- We are currently not in favor of fog on Thursday AM, but this will continue to be a risk to watch with the PM update. IF fog were to occur, it would likely be in the 6-9 AM window, would occur North of 51/52, and come in a rather patchy nature.

High Temperatures Thursday

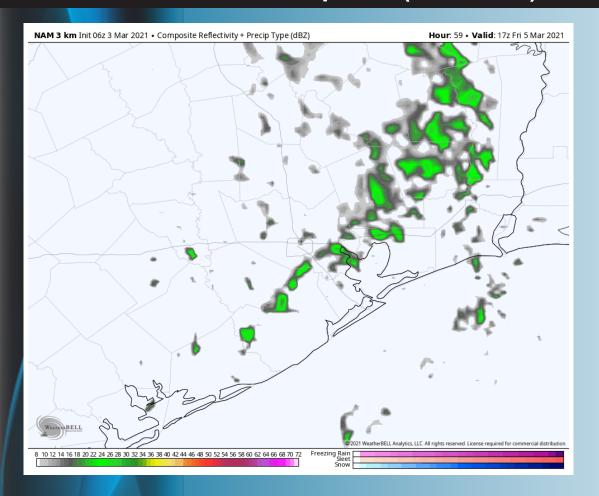

Friday, March 5th, 2021

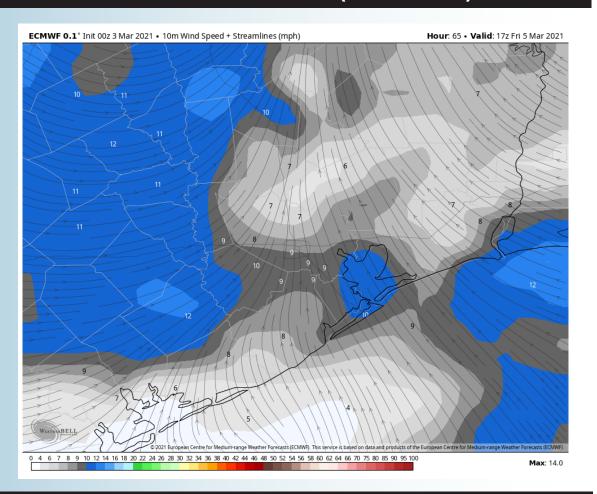

Short-Term Forecast Discussion

- Lower end scattered rain chances will come back into the picture for Friday as we are watching for another weaker low pressure system to move through the area.
 - ➤ Winds on the day Friday will continue coming out of the SE at 5-10 MPH. We are then watching for a wind shift late Friday night that will turn winds more offshore into Saturday.
- Highs on Friday look to be in the upper 60s once again for the stations/ warmer inland.
 - No anticipating fog for Friday.

Week 1 Forecast

Long-Range Forecast Discussion

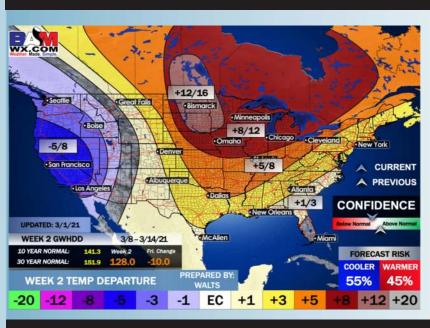

- Temps will start to turn more "average" over the next week.

 Expecting quieter weather moving forward with the next chance for precipitation then coming on Friday.
- Early-Mid March we continue to favor slightly above normal temps with below normal precipitation for this time of year.
- Into mid-late March we are favoring above normal temps for Texas and right around average precip for this time of year.
