Week 1 Forecast

Long-Range Forecast Discussion

- Temperatures still look to average out below normal for week 1, but warming as we work into next week.
  Precipitation chances look to be the best late this weekend into the weekend with severe weather risks possible in parts of the S.
  Plains/Deep South that we'll need to monitor.
- We expect week 2 to be warmer than normal with an active pattern continuing early in the week before a drier pattern could dry to redevelop mid-late week.
  - We expect that the pattern can stay warmer and a bit drier for early-mid May overall.
