HOUR BY HOUR FORECAST:

Hazardous Weather Alerts:

All Clear

IMPORTANT FORECAST NOTES (as of 8:20 AM ET, 5/23/24):

- ✓ Anticipating conditions remain dry throughout the rest of the morning and into the afternoon. Right around 7 PM we can expect a front to push into Pittsburgh, bringing a broken line of showers and storms. The highest coverage of 30 - 40% will last between ~7 - 10 PM. Then from 10 PM until 9 AM ET Friday we can expect 10% chances for a stray shower / isolated storm as scattered activity lingers just south of Pittsburgh.
- ✓ Temps will sit in the upper 70s F by first pitch. After sunset, temps will drop into the upper 60s F / low 70s F.
- ✓ Westerly winds will sit in the 2 - 7 MPH range through ~1 PM today before gradually increasing to 5-10 MPH. Gusts along the leading edge of the front have the potential to reach ~15 - 20 MPH for a brief time. The application will struggle to see this brief gust increase around 7 PM.

Dew Forecast

- ✓ Low end chances for a stray shower through the overnight/early AM could result in wet surfaces. Alongside this risk, dew development is also expected for Friday morning.
