IMPORTANT FORECAST NOTES (as of 11:15 AM ET, 5/23/24):

- ✓ Anticipating conditions remain dry through the early afternoon. Right around 7 PM we can expect a front to push into Pittsburgh, bringing hit and miss showers and storms. The highest coverage of 30% will last between ~7 - 10 PM. Then from 10 PM until 2 AM ET Friday we can expect 20% chances for a stray shower / isolated storm. From 2 AM - 9 AM spotty showers will linger just south of Pittsburgh, however the risk of one of these showers hitting the field is very low (10%).
- ✓ Temps will sit in the upper 70s F by first pitch. After sunset, temps will drop into the upper 60s F / low 70s F.
- ✓ Westerly winds will sit in the 2 - 7 MPH range through ~1 PM today before gradually increasing to 5-10 MPH. Gusts along the leading edge of the front could bring isolated gusts of ~20-30 MPH. The application is struggling to see this brief increase in gusts 7-8 PM.

Dew Forecast

- ✓ Low end chances for a stray shower through the overnight/early AM could result in wet surfaces. Alongside this risk, dew development is also expected for Friday morning.
